PHYSICIANS COMBINE FOR HIGHER FEES.

Henceforth Beneficiary Societies Must Pay the Regular Rates.

A Number of Berkeley Medicos Have Signed the Agreement.

The physicians of Alameda county have decided that in future they will not render professional services to any lodge, free clinic, health association, or trade or labor union for less compensation than is exacted from the general public.

For years the various lodges have paid a small per capita tax to the physician of their selection to attend members. The fee has ranged from $1 to $2 a year for each member, the higher figure including treatment for entire families. This work has been done under contract.

Now the lodges declare the doctors have created a medical trust and this is what they assert they oppose.

To enforce the provisions of their agreement the physicians declare they will withhold all professional support and professional relation with any member who violates it.

It has been reported to the physicians that lodges will import doctors to handle the business which a large majority of practitioners have refused to accept under the old terms.

Following are the local physicians who are in the "combine": John U. Oberg, J. T. Farrar, H. N. Kienlff, H. N. Rowell, F. H. Payne, B. B. Wall, G. F. Whitworth, F. R. Woolsey.

NOTED JURIST TO LECTURE ON JURISPRUDENCE.

The Career of Dr. Gustav Gutsch, Now of San Francisco.

He Will Treat of "The History of Modern European Classification."

Dr. Gustav Gutsch, who has been appointed "Lecturer in Jurisprudence" for the present University term has had a remarkably brilliant career for so young a man.

Dr. Gutsch is a native of Prussia, about 35 years of age. He studied at the "Gymnasia" at Cassel, Magdeburg and Munich. He studied law at the University of Rome for two semesters, 1879-1880, at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1880, at Munich, from 1880 to 1882, attending the lectures of Brinz, von Holtzendorff, Planck, Geyer, and others, and at Berlin, 1882-83, attending the lectures of Gneist, Hinschius, Goldschmidt, Eck and others. He passed the examination before the Court of Appeals at Berlin (Kamergericht) in 1883, and was appointed "Referendar." He wrote a thesis on "Stipulated Damages," and received the German doctorate of laws, or "jurisutriusque," from the Legal Faculty at Leipsic in 1883.

In 1884 Dr. Gutsch came to California, studied law and was admitted to practice by the Supreme Court in 1887. In 1891 he formed a partnership with William Loewy. This firm represents in legal matters the German, Austro-Hungarian and Swedish-Norwegian consulates. Dr. Gutsch has, consequently, much to do with questions of international law and with the practical results of conflicts arising through the application of civil law principles on one side and of English and American law principles on the other side. Last year he edited a "Comparison of the Consolidation Act with the Proposed New Charter of San Francisco."

In his new appointment at Berkeley, Dr. Gutsch, who will give his course of lectures gratuitously, will treat the subject of "The History of Modern European Codification." Tracing the beginning of this work in the great enterprise of the Emperor Justinian for the law of Rome, of the mediaeval Popes for the Canon law, and of the Emperor Charles V. for criminal law, he will give a full exposition of the great movement of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries which has given codes of law for most of the states of Europe. The more notable of these are the series of French codes produced under the direction of Napoleon I., and the codes which have resulted from the consolidation and unification of Italy and of Germany.

Besides this course on European Codification, the jurisprudence department announces a new course on the "Principles of International Law," by Dr. Hengstler. Also one on the "Contract of Sale in Roman Law," by Prof. Jones.

Held to Answer.

Mrs. Mary Frustuck, the ex-Berkeleyan, who was arrested several weeks ago in San Francisco on a charge of bigamy and who set up the novel defense that she committed the crime while in a trance, was held to answer yesterday and her bonds were fixed at $500.

UNIVERSITY THEFTS EXAGGERATED.

Librarian Rowell Will Introduce an Innovation.

Owing to the fact that several articles have lately appeared in the newspapers grossly exaggerating the stealing of library books, the CALIFORNIAN has gone to the bottom of the matter and herewith publishes the facts.

In a recent interview with Librarian Rowell he said that in regard to books missing from the shelves of the Library, the evil was not so great as reported. He believes that the students themselves are awake to the proposition, that any infraction of the rules is likely to meet with serious consequences. He would be glad to know from any student, cases of delinquency on the part of fellow-students, but he has a plan by which, without injury to anyone concerned, the evil may be corrected.

One innovation, however, which the Librarian has introduced is the disposition of "ponies." They are all to be locked up and to be given out only upon application at the Librarian's desk. The student taking a book of this kind is responsible for it until it is returned to the desk again. In this way the evil of hiding books in obscure alcoves it is hoped will be removed.

Improving Streets.

The macadam which was taken from the Berkeley station park site has been laid on Stanford place and the east side of Shattuck avenue, thereby greatly improving those highways. The soil in which the park will be planted is being laid today.

FINANCES OF THE LAST JUNIOR DAY.

Eastern Offer to Produce "The Duke of Oldenburg."

The financial result of Junior Day has proved by far the most successful of any Junior Day in University records. The class assessments were unusually well paid, amounting in total to $225. The outside sale of tickets brought in $75 additional, while expenses entire only came to $240. Thus $60 clear is now in the class treasury as an outcome of the performance.

The Junior Promenade, as often happens, fell a little behind the assessments paid, but the surplus on the play easily covers this small deficit. A charitable organization of Oakland has expressed the desire to again produce "The Duke of Oldenburg," the Junior play, just as given with the college cast, the proceeds of such a production to go to charity.

The author of this piece has also received an offer from Knox College, Illinois. A class of that university would like to reproduce the play in their own college. As far as can be ascertained, this is the first time that an Eastern college has desired to reproduce a University of California class play.

WEST END WORKMEN INSTALL.

Hearts of Oak Lodge, No. 61, Visited by the Grand Officers.

Musical Program, Dancing and a Banquut—Two Hundred Guests.

The officers of Hearts of Oak Lodge, No. 61, A. O. U. W., of West Berkeley, were publicly installed last evening in Sisterna Hall by Grand Master Vinton, assisted by the state officers. Nearly two hundred guests were present.

The interesting ceremony as carried out by the grand officers, was a rare treat even for many Workmen.

Following the installation the following program was rendered:

Piano duet—Miss Pantermehl, Miss Van Houson.

Address by Grand Master Vinton.

Song—Charles Barnes.

Address—W. L. Barnes.

Song—Sam Booth.

Piano Solo—Miss Bessie Vasey.

Vocal duet—The Paine brothers.

The floor was then cleared and dancing was in order until two a. m.

The banquet was in charge of the ladies and the Workmen say that too much credit cannot be given them for the substantial meal served.

The following are the officers installed: M. W., G. H Phillips; Foreman, W. Wulferdingen; Overseer, F. Bonkofsky; Guide, C. D. Maloney; I. W., D. Newell; O. W., P. O'Connell; Trustee, C. Hoff; P. M., C. Maloney, Sr.

It is the intention of Hearts of Oak Lodge to give monthly socials hereafter, a "ladies night" alternating with a "gentlemen's smoker."

State Floral Society.

The next regular meeting will be held in Central Hall, 223 Sutter street, Friday, January 14, at 2 p. m. Election of officers for the ensuing year will take place at this meeting. Subject for discussion: "Winter Flowering Plants and Shrubs." It is very important that there be a full attendance. All interested are invited to attend.

No News of Corder.

Nothing has been heard of Corder, the Golden Gate glue manufacturer who disappeared the other day owing $15,000. His creditors are taking steps to have him declared insolvent.

University Bicycle Corps.

The bicycle corps is to be considerably enlarged this term. New officers will be appointed, and Freshmen will probably be allowed to join.

Mrs. Phebe Hearst was in town yesterday. The distinguished visitor called on President Kellogg and other prominent members of the University faculty.

A VICTORY FOR THE CITY.

The Petersons Have No Claim to Adeline Street.

Judge Hall rendered an opinion yesterday morning in the suit of the Town of Berkeley against Hiram and Mary Peterson, holding that the defendants had no title whatever to the property extending into Adeline street in Lorin and affirming the title of Berkeley to the property as a street.

This piece of property has been in dispute for years and on several occasions the town marshals have removed fences only to have them replaced. The court holds that it has been an open street since August 17, 1878, and the town entitled to immediate and undisturbed possession.

THE WATERBURY'S ARE SERENADED.

Firemen's Brass Band and Quartet Furnish the Music.

Mr. nd Mrs. Harvey Waterbury were serenaded last evening at their residence, corner of Louisa street and College way, in honor of their recent marriage, by the Berkeley Firemen's Brass Band and the Berkeley Firemen's Quartet, as well as a host of other friends.

The serenaders received a cordial welcome and were invited into the Waterbury parlors, and made to feel at home. Speeches, songs and refreshments were then in order until midnight when the jolly party broke up.

Glee Club Manager.

Owing to the fact that Mr. Wm. Smith the past manager of the Glee Club has left college, that organization will elect next Thursday evening a man to fill the place. The names of G. H. Powers '99, and Hugh Webster '99 have been mentioned. There has also been a new move considered, namely that of taking a manager from the student body in general, a man not otherwise connected with the club.

If a good name is suggested, this idea will certainly be adopted.

High School Histrions.

The Berkeley High School seniors have decided to produce on class day Frances Hodgson Burnett's play, Esmeralda. The Greek play, "Alcestis," written by H. Leo Dungon and Joseph L. Wilson, of the senior class, while of rare literary excellence, was deemed to difficult to be acted by the student amateurs.

Change of Location.

Noack's tonsorial parlors have been moved into the place on Center street, recently vacated by the Alameda Water Company.

George is thinking of consolidating these departments in one gigantic commercial concern.

THE FUNERAL OF CHARLES HAVILAND.

North Berkeley Fire Company Will Take a Prominent Part.

The Sad Ceremony Will Probably Take Place Tomorrow Afternoon.

The North Berkeley Fire Company held a meeting last evening to take action in regard to the funeral of Charles Haviland, a member of the Company, who died yesterday from blood poisoning as a result of a broken leg.

The following pallbearers were selected: Messrs. Striker, Murphy, Weir, Frazer, Lange, Ott and Stein.

It was decided to send a beautiful floral piece; to drape the fire house in mourning for thirty days, and to keep the flag at half mast until the interment.

The funeral will be held in Oakland tomorrow afternoon unless word to the contrary is received from the sister of the deceased, who resides in the East.

Haviland was a very popular man and had resided in Berkeley for many years. He was 60 years old.

A Car Blockade.

A wagon belonging to Patterson's express became mired last night in a sewer which is being dug on Western avenue across Telegraph avenue, below Temescal, and the electric cars were blocked from 6:30 to 7 o'clock.

ATHLETIC CLUB OF WEST END.

Lavigne and O'Brien to Be Matched.

The directors of the Beacon Athletic Club have concluded to arrange for a go between Joe Lavigne and Hughie O'Brien.

Tiernan did not make his appearance last night to sign articles to box with Lavigne. There appears also to be a desire on the part of the club members and others to have a contest arranged between Lavigne and O'Brien, especially as the two men are about evenly matched. Lavigne is the more agressive, but O'Brien is credited with better staying qualities.

A branch of the Sons of Temperance was organized at 1904 Louisa street last Friday evening.

DEMOCRATIC POSTMASTER'S TALE OF WOE.

Has Been Striving to Resign His Office for Nearly a Year.

His Pitiful Plea That He May Be Removed at Once.

J. M. Breen, the Democratic postmaster of Lorin, whose thus far fruitless efforts to resign under a Republican administration have made him famous, has written the following whimsical letter to the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General with the hope that it may have the effect of removing him (Breen) from office:

LORIN, Cal., Jan. 12, 1898.

Hon. Fourth Assist. P. M. General Washington, D. C.

DEAR SIR: I once more respectfully request that I be relieved of the postmastership at Lorin as early as possible, and as I have made other engagements that require my attention in the immediate future, I hope you will grant my request.

"As there are many worthy applicants here, of both the feminine and masculine gender, who would be, and are quite willing to sacrifice themselves for the position and their country's good, it is only right that the strain and mental worry that has held them in its unrelenting grasp since the election of 1896 be dispelled. They are falling into a state of innocuous desuetude; their gait is getting unsteady; they have a far-away look in their eye, and their friends are more than anxious about their condition.

"Furthermore, I have fallen under the ban of many straight democrats in this vicinity, who remember that just prior to the last Presidental election I took a two weeks vacation, and they believe that I betook myself to Canton, and prostrated myself at the shrine of Mark Hanna, that I worked for the success of the Republican party, and now, as a matter of course I am reaping my reward; but sir, I resent the suspicion and yearn to be out of office that I may pick up the free silver dollars that my party has offered to the people.

I take this opportunity of thanking the officers of the P. O. Department for their good will toward me, my bondsmen and the residents of this town generally, who have generously patronized this office from the date of my incumbency to the present hour, and close with the hope that the present administration in its wisdom, may see fit to place the fourth-class postoffices of the county in the classified civil service list, an act which I have no doubt nine-tenths of the entire people would gratefully endorse.

Once more, earnestly asking to be relieved from office as speedily as possible, I remain, dear sir, very respectfully,

JOHN M. BREEN, P. M.

CONFIDENCE AND CHEER.

The people of the United States enter upon the calendar year 1898 with good reasons for confidence and cheer. The year opens with conditions radically different from those which have marked any preceding year since the people of the United States, by the 1892 election, transferred the control of the United States Government to the Democratic party. The opening of each calendar year since that time has been marked by depressing conditions, but January, 1898, shows an entirely different state of affairs. After a whole year of entire freedom from disturbance and alarm, in which the country has paid heavy foreign indebtedness, taken and paid many millions for stocks sent from abroad, and accumulated credits from other countries represented by merchandise balances more than $320,000,000 in its favor for the past five months, with deferred exchanges for more than $20,000,000 held by New York banks alone, while the great industries have been pushing their way into foreign markets with unprecedented success, the monetary situation is no longer a matter of anxiety.

More than 500,000 men in a few States, according to official reports, are employed now who were idle a year ago, and the general advance in wages for those employed has gone far to restore the rates prevailing before the panic. The volume of business through the clearing houses for the week is 14.2 per cent larger than in 1892, and in many industries and branches of business the latter months of this year have surpassed all records.

SAME OLD STORY.

The Alameda Water Company is at its old tricks; it is again trying its ancient "now you see it and now you don't see it" game on the public. Every year, shortly before the Trustees fix the rates, the Company announces with a flourish of trumpets that it is about to increase the extent and quality of its water service, which of course will require a great deal of money.

In the past the Trustees, relying on the theory that the word of a business concern is of value, has given credence to the statements and fixed the rates accordingly. This year the affair wears a different aspect. The Trustees have been taught by sad experience that the Alameda Water Company cannot be depended on to fulfil its promises of which it is so prolific. As a matter of fact the Company will do nothing. Consequently when the time comes to fix the rates, the Board should do so with absolute justice to the people as well as the Company. Let it be given enough to pay a fair interest on the amount invested but not one cent for improvements which the corporation may promise to make.

DILATORY METHODS.

What is the matter with the contractor who is supposed to be improving Grove street? The work should have been finished long ere this, yet the street is in a worse condition now than ever. It is covered with mud to a depth which precludes its use as a highway. There is absolutely no excuse for the delay. The Board of Trustees should take note of those contractors whose methods and work are not entirely satisfactory, and no bids presented by them should receive consideration.

RESULT OF INDIFFERENCE.

The statement is made that the protest against the improvement of Russell street was signed by several people, under a misapprehension. This is another manifestation of the indifference regarding municipal affairs which seems characteristic of so many people of our city.

Had those who signed the Russell street protest without a full comprehension of its significance, known what they were about, the protest would probably not have been allowed to rule and the work would have gone on. Now if the Trustees sustain the protest, the improvement will be delayed for some time and one of the most important highways of South Berkeley will continue in a condition which is generally supposed to be characteristic of Milpitis.

Without Prejudice.

"Have yon any reason for suspecting the good faith of my representative?" asked the lightning rod agent.

"Not at all," replied Farmer Corntossel. "I spose yer fust obligations is, toward the man you're workin' fur and I'm willin' to give you full credit fur standin' right by him in this transaction.

"Nay, ask not if the country's safe,"
He hurriedly repeated.
"How can I tell until I know
If I have been defeated?"

"Look here," said the gentleman whom Meandering Mike had approached in quest of alms; "can't you find work?"

Mike paused, looked at him carefully and answered.

"Mebbe I kin, mister. Ef ye'll gimme yer address an' previous experience. I'll do wat I kin fur ye."

"Why is it," said Willie Wishington, throughtfully, "that great men are so much more admired when posterity beholds them in historic prospective?"

"That is very easily explained," replied Miss Cayenne. "The farther they get in perspective, the less of them we can see."

BALLADE OF A CITY BOWER.

It bosky dells with brown and silver brooks
Pipes numberless perennially shrill,
For punishment betimes in sightly books
Songs breathing righteous praise of bough and rill,
These are fair spots, but here God's gracious will,
A stone's throw from the city's heart and din
Gives me as fair—let me deserve it still—
My upper window where the elm looks in.

They love dark things who celebrate the rooks
That build in woody places mirk and chill.
My neighbor, too, misled, on sturdy hooks
A painted cage hangs from his window sill
And hears not in its captive's every trill
Pleas for the liberty he may not win.
Those are free, lusty throats with tune that thrill
My upper windows where the elm looks in.

A glist'ring, turquoise bay it overlooks,
My pleasant bower, and a gentle hill
Dilt with wild mustard blossoms. There are nooks
Beyond them doubtless which a little skill
In ballad making must misprize. To thrill
The world with perfect lays let them begin
Who can. This theme befits an humbler quill—
My upper window where the elm looks in.

When day is over at the rumbling mill
And slipped the gyves of office discipline,
Here is an exorcist for every ill—
My upper window where the elm looks in.

—Edward W. Barnard in Lotus.

THEATRICAL RECEIPTS.

Charles Reade Wondered Why They Were So Large In America.

"Edwin Booth In London" is the title of an article in The Century by E. H. House. Mr. House tells of an interesting meeting between Booth and Charles Reade and reports the following conversation relating to the appearance of Booth and Irving together:

"Is it true that the prices will be changed?"

"Doubled, I believe. Irving says they must be. That is one of the risks I speak of, but he is full of confidence. He does it more for my sake than anything else."

"Then I hope it will turn out well. What are the indications?"

"Very good, I hear. I cannot judge myself. The conditions are all different from what I am used to."

"I understand. We are too slow—and thrifty, I suspect—to run the swift American pace. Yet I can't see why there should be such an amazing difference in your theatrical business and ours. The stories we hear of New York profits sound fabulous. I should say they were fabulous if I had not seen the returns of Wallack's when one of my plays was produced there. A hundred pounds a night is nothing to you, it seems."

"Two or three hundred would not stagger us," said Booth, smiling, "nor four or five for a very great and special attraction. For several years the prosperous houses in New York considered $1,000 a fair average the year round. Stars, traveling through the country, for whom the regular prices were raised, could sometimes draw much more."

"Were you at all prepared for the lower receipts here?"

"Not really prepared. I was told what to expect, but paid no attention. Clarke said I should get nothing at the Princess', but I did not take his 'nothing' literally. I thought I might count upon $1,000 a month at the very worst. He was right, however."

"I can't make it out," said Reade. "Your theaters are not larger than ours, and the prices of tickets are about the same, yet I see the Adelphi or the St. James' packed, without about one-half the result that Wallack's shows. It beats my arithmetic. You can't get more people into a place than it will hold."

"We do that, too, sometimes," laughed Booth, "but, as I say, you must come and find out all about it for yourself, Mr. Reade. Your audiences will be larger than the halls can hold, so you can study the problem under the best conditions."

"No, no. You tempt me to my destruction." But the compliment greatly pleased the author, who liked to hear such things said, though he affected a lofty indifference to praise.

Scolding Under Difficulties.

At a church gathering some time ago a number of deaf mutes were present. Refreshments were served during the evening, and in handing a cup of coffee to one of the guests a deaf mute gentleman happened to spill a few drops on his wife's skirt. The wife is also a deaf mute, and it was evident that she took the mishap in a rather irritable way. She wrinkled up her forehead and at once made a series of remarkably swift movements with her nimble fingers. The husband, looking exceedingly apologetic, made a few motions in return.

One of the guests who had noticed this little byplay slyly slipped out a bit of paper and penciling something on it handed it to a friend.

This is what the latter read:

"No matter how badly afflicted, woman can still scold."

The friend scribbled this in return:

"Yes, but in the present case the husband is luckier than the average. He doesn't have to look."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Lucky Find.

Two men walking on Campbell street toward Twelfth one night were accosted by a negro woman who was excited.

"Kin either one of you mens give me a match?" she said.

"What for?"

"I lost a quahtah down there, an I want to hunt fur it."

She was given several matches and ran ahead and began striking matches and looking along the sidewalk. When the two men came up, she had stopped hunting and had apparently found the coin.

"Well, did you find it?" inquired one of the men.

"No, but I done find this horseshoe, an that's better'n two quahtahs," she said.—Kansas City Star.

Theatrical.

Brette—I never saw such a cold audience in my life.

Light—Didn't they warm up a bit?

Brette—Well, when they spoke of bringing out the author I believe some of the audience got hot.—Yonkers Statesman.

A BEAUTIFUL CITY.

SO BRUSSELS IS CHARACTERIZED BY AN AMERICAN TOURIST.

Some of Its Most Attractive Features—A Handsome Boulevard In Place of the Old City Wall—The Immense Town Hall. How the Tram Cars Are Operated.

Brussels is a beautiful city and owes its beauty in a large measure to the good sense and public spirit of its citizens or a ruling king who rules in the interest of the people.

One good thing comes of a fortified city, or at least has come to Paris and Brussels, and that is when by expansion it has become necessary to tear down the fortification it has left the boulevard. Brussels is now about three times as large as the original walled city, and this boulevard forms a broad street around between the center and the outside from 200 to 300 feet wide. It is more than a street or avenue; it is a street and a park. It goes by different names at different parts, and Boulevard Waterloo—the widest—is first a sidewalk, then a paved street perhaps 15 feet wide for business purposes, then ground with two rows of trees, 80 feet wide, for horseback riding, then 40 feet or so of asphalt or macadam for carriages, then 80 feet (at a guess) with four rows of trees for pedestrians, with seats for resting; then another paved street for business and street cars, and lastly, the other sidewalk. At different places are booths for selling papers, etc., waiting rooms for the street car service and public conveniences. Through the town there are two broad avenues and many outside, like the Avenue Louise, which leads out to the Bois, and like the boulevard, have the same combination—part street and part park of itself. The other streets are neither wide nor straight, but cool in a hot day and likely warm in winter.

The buildings are not whole blocks from street to street as in Paris, each separate house or store varying somewhat one from the other, but they are all in a locality or block about of the same height and degree of finish—all kept clean and bright—the telegraph and telephone wires all over the tops strung from roof to roof and the whole city supplied with street car service. One of the lines is supplied with cars that run on the track where there is a track and turn out on the pavement where there is none. This is done by using common omnibus wheels for the carriage and two leading wheels which drop into the grooves in the rails when in line—which keeps the car on all right. By custom, law or common sense none of the carriages has tires less than about two inches wide, so that the ground rail does not interfere at all with the common street traffic. The king, either by his power or influence, sees to it that the companies give the worth of the money. The fares are very low—only a cent for short rides, varying according to the distance—and the companies are no doubt managed on economical lines. As an example, the tickets or receipts are printed on paper and are canceled by the conductor tearing off the corner. How simple compared with the thick ticket and punch! The street cars, or tram cars, have maps of the route over which they travel posted so one who can follow a map can see where the special line he is on goes, what main streets it crosses and where it connects with other lines.

Probably nothing has been said about Brussels for the last 300 years that did not include the Hotel de Ville, or town hall, with its openwork spire. Inside it is a museum, with many curiosities and noted paintings. Surrounding it and throughout the old part of the town there are many ancient Flemish buildings, and in the new part is the Hall of Justice, one of the largest buildings in the world, if not the very largest. It is larger than St. Peter's, and though Philadelphia claims to have the largest this is 500 by 600 and 400 feet high, as against the Philadelphia structure's 460 feet square by the same height and the Philadelphia building has a large open court, which the Brussels Hall of Justice has not. Any way there is an awful lot of stone and architecture about it.

I do not know whether they deal out justice on the same scale as the building, but the affairs of the city seem to be well managed, and one would think, from the talk of the people, that the king has a good deal to do with it. He is greatly liked, is around the streets and in the exhibition every day and stops to talk to the exhibitors and workmen. We had the honor of meeting him two or three times. He was going one way in the aisles of the exhibition and in the street, and we were going the other. "Long live the king!"—John E. Sweet in American Machinist.

English In Japan.

Here are some attempts at English to be seen on the signboards in the streets of Tokyo:

"Wine, beer and other medicines."

"A shop, the kind of umbrella, parasol or stick."

"The shop for the furniture of the several countries."

"Prices, no increase or diminish."

"All kinds of superior sundries kept here."

"Skin maker and seller" (portmanteau shop).—London Tit-Bits.

THE MINING FAIR

AT

MECHANICS' PAVILION

Saturday, January 29 to Saturday, March 6, 1898

OPEN FROM 2 TO 10:30 P. M.

The 50th anniversary of the discovery of gold in California will be not only fittingly celebrated by its Golden Jubilee, but by one of the grandest and most complete exhibitions of mining and outfitting ever seen in the world. This Fair will possess the merits of originality, instructive and practical features.

There will be a mammoth pictorial and genuine representation of a hydraulic mine in operation; every modern piece of machinery used in all forms of mining in operation; complete display of ores, minerals, and soil formations, and many novel mining experimental features shown for the first time at this Mining Fair.

The natural resources of California will be shown in the big exhibit of the State Board of Trade; and many official and private collections and exhibits of ores and minerals will give added interest to this wonderful Exposition.

The history of our State will be fittingly and graphically outlined by exhibits of relics, curios, photographs, paintings, books, papers, etc., all kindly loaned by societies and individuals. This feature of the Fair is worth special attention, and the management solicits other loans, where possible. The exhibit of the State Mining Board will also prove interesting.

The Klondike Outfitting Department possesses interest beyond the ordinary, for the majority of food products, evaporated fruits, vegetables, and the clothing, cooking utensils, means of transportation, etc., of miners' outfits as shown, are of California, and the moneys expended therefore remain not alone among our manufacturers and artisans, but aid and benefit the farmer and fruit grower. One half of the main floor is given over to this department.

The attractions besides those named are splendid band concerts, both afternoons and evenings, Klondike cooking lectures, free exhibition daily of Edison's Projectoscope, and new animated pictures illustrating Pacific Coast scenes, European views, Eastern moving pictures, Klondike scenes, comical views, with lectures; a Klondike wedding, Cornish miners' wrestling matches, rock drill contests, international cake walks, baby shows, opening civic reception, living pictures, trips through the great underground tunnel, shaft and ore chambers, nationality days, school children's programs, State Press Association day, interior excursion days, in fact the special features and attractions will be new, novel, well carried out, and on a magnificent scale throughout.

The admission has been wisely fixed at the reasonable price of 25 cents; children, 15 cents; and the railways will make special excursion rates. These can be obtained by applying to your station agent. The various counties will make creditable exhibits, and every man, woman, and child in California has an interest in making this Mining Fair a success. The hotels in San Francisco will make specially low Fair rates, and these can be obtained by writing to the Hotel Committee, 31 Post street, also a list of hotels and boarding houses.

Don't forget the dates—Jan. 24th to 28th for Golden Jubilee Celebration and Jan. 29th to March 6th for Mining Fair.

Office, 31 POST STREET, San Francisco.
